Week 5 - Juhani Imberg

What have I learned this week?

- How frustrating debugging can be when nothing gets accomplished
- Programming languages are hard
- C is hard

Unresolved things

- How to get `asek_` to respond on IRC
- How to get a response on tiralabtool
- How to get my code review partner to open his GitHub issues
- How to design a programming language

How is the program progressing

- Not very well
- I have been debugging the GC the whole week, several hours every night
- Possibly due to the lack of sleep I haven't solved the problem yet
- Some documentation was written how ever
- Still sick

What will I do next

- The same as always
- Struggle to get the GC to work properly
- Think about the language
- Documentation and testing